I miss you so much dad. I am not looking forward to tomorrow as I feel it will be a final goodbye. My heart is broken without you here but, I hope I will get to see you again someday. You were my go to person every time I had something exciting to share or when I was upset. I knew you would listen without judgment and give me the best advice you had. I will love you forever!! I'm glad that I was able to call you my dad.

*It's been nearly a month since you left us and it hasn't gotten any easier. We went on vacation to Panama City this past week and it t was a nice break but, everyday my mind told me to call you and tell you about everything we did that day and then I had to remind myself that you wouldn't answer.. I miss you so much dad. Your birthday is coming up
In a few days and I plan to celebrate you and your life! I love you and miss you so much*

Kal starts kindergarten tomorrow! He is not looking forward to it, he wants to stay home with mom. He saw me crying the other day and asked what was wrong, I told him "I miss grandpa." He said, "I do too, he was my best friend." I wish you could've stayed and watched him grow . I will always make sure he remembers you!! We love and miss you so much!
