Tammy always said she never met a stranger, she only met forever friends. She never refused helping anyone. Her children were her pride. She was proud of each one of them. Her husband was her "best friend" . Always there for her. She adored her family and made forever memories with them. Tammy was strong, a warrior. She taught her family how to love unconditionally, the joy of giving to others, and how to enjoy life. She will forever be missed by all who knew and loved Tammy. God created only "one" Tammy.
